"We were very impressed with the creativity and quality of the students' book cover entries," said Lisa Jabara-May, Sr. Director of Marketing. "The students clearly connected with the topics and created visually stunning representations of what their favorite books mean to them personally. The panel of judges had a very hard time choosing the winners due to the volume of exceptional entries. Congratulations to all the students who participated and the teachers who inspire and work with them every day."

Walter Chow, General Manager, Info Access & Distribution (HK), said "I am amazed by the students' creative works. Their book cover designs bring new imagery for the books."

In addition to being featured on the official Learning A-Z US Facebook page, the winners received certificates and prizes on March 24th.
