Spokes*

Cole Jones
spends summers
with Gram
in Spokes Cove.
Spokes Cove is
an old city
many miles
from Cole's home.
Cole loves going
to Spokes Cove.
He loves Gram's place.

The Sun shone.
The day was hot.
Cole and Hope
put on their
summer clothes.
They got a flashlight
and a rope.
They stole away
after lunch.
Cole and Hope
ran back to the camp.

The next day,
Hope and Cole
spoke again.

“We are nine,”
they said.

“We are braver now.”
They had to poke around
in that cave.

They had to know
what was in there.

Gram’s home is
close to Hope’s home.
Cole and Hope
are friends.

They met when Cole first came to Gram’s home
five years ago.
They were little kids then.
Now they are nine.

Hope and Cole Are Brave

Word List

*clothes, Cole, Hope,
poke, rope, shone,
spoke, stole*

At Gram's home,
Cole and Hope
spoke in soft tones.

"I want to know
what is in that cave,"
Cole said.

"But the note, Cole,"
Hope said.

"The note said
not to poke our nose
into the camp cave."

But Hope knows
that Cole likes
to poke around.

Gram's home is
close to an old camp.

At the camp,
there is an old flagpole
and a sign that says
"Spokes Cove Camp."

There is also
a pile of big stones,
and a cave.

Hope and Cole
spoke of going
into that cave,
but they did not want
to take any chances.

“We are nine now,”
said Cole.

“We are bigger.
We are brave.
We are brave enough
to go into the cave.”
Hope knows that
Cole is right.
They must go
into that cave.

Just then,
there was a crash.

“Let’s go home,”
Cole cried.
Hope and Cole
ran home.
They ran faster
than they had ever run
in their lives.

A Note on a Stone

Word List

*Cole, froze, Hope, no,
nose, note, poke, spoke,
stones, wrote*

Hope sees a note on
one of the stones.

The note says,
“Do not poke your nose
into our camp cave.
Bad things will happen
if you do.”

Cole and Hope froze.

No one spoke
for a long time.

Cole spoke first.

“Who do you think
wrote the note?”

he asked Hope.

“I don’t see a name
on the note,”

said Hope.
